

Vaisala Environmental Policy

Vaisala's purpose, "Taking every measure for the planet", highlights our critical role in enabling data-driven climate action and our strong commitment to sustainability. We are committed to protecting the environment and reducing the negative environmental impact of our products, services, and operations throughout their life cycle. We operate an ISO 14001 certified environmental management system to manage our significant environmental aspects, risks, and opportunities, and to drive continual improvement. We set measurable environmental objectives and targets for our most significant impacts.

Climate and energy

We use renewable electricity, take measures to improve our energy efficiency, and have set ambitious, science-based emission reduction targets. We aim to minimize the carbon footprint of new products and to source materials with lower emissions.

Nature and circularity

We design easily maintainable, repairable and recyclable products with long lifetimes. We use natural resources efficiently and aim to continually minimize waste and improve our recycling rate. Where our operations or products interact with the natural environment, we seek to minimize negative impacts on local ecosystems and biodiversity.

Environmental compliance

We comply with applicable legal requirements and other requirements we adopt or endorse. We ensure our products' environmental compliance by translating relevant legal obligations into concrete design and maintenance requirements within the product development process and the ongoing management of existing products.

Collaboration and communication

We expect our partners to follow our sustainability principles, and we collaborate with them to improve our mutual environmental performance. Together with our customers, we develop and deploy measurement technologies for the benefit of the planet, helping them improve their environmental performance. We promote environmental awareness and provide appropriate training for our employees, and we communicate our environmental performance openly to stakeholders in our annual Sustainability Statement.
