

The background of the advertisement is a photograph of the exterior of Mission Church at dusk. The building has a modern design with a light-colored facade and a dark, slatted upper section. A large, dark wooden planter box runs along the front of the building, filled with various plants. Several people are visible sitting on the planter box. A string of warm-toned lights hangs above the planter box. A sign on the wall reads 'MISSION CHURCH'. The entrance to the church is visible on the right, with warm lights inside. The overall atmosphere is warm and inviting.
